

Barbara Stanwyck In "Banjo On My Knee" At Logan Roxy Theatre Offers Funny Joe E. Brown In "Polo Joe" Paramount Bills "Marihuana" And "Flying Hostess"

Twin Feature Program At Paramount Friday

"Man Who Lived Again" and "Unknown Ranger" Scheduled Friday and Saturday.

"Marihuana," hailed as a daring expose of the dope racket, opens the week at the Paramount theatre, being booked for 2 days. The show is for adults only. "Flying Hostess," a picture of commercial air service with William Gargan, Judith Barrett and William Hall, is scheduled Tuesday while "Mummy's Boys" with Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey, will be presented Wednesday and Thursday and a double feature including "Man Who Lived Again," with Boris Karloff, and "Unknown Ranger," with Robert Allen and Martha Thibbets, is booked for Friday and Saturday.

"Mummy's Boys" A lusty satire on the "terror type" of mystery thriller, it takes the boys from ditch digging in New York to choveling in the Valley of the Kings, graveyard of Egypt's Pharaohs. In the face of a similar case, the fact that a fiend is employing the supernatural threat of death as a blind for his dirty work splices the hilarity with thrills and leads to a high-tension climax when the boys and their new leading lady, Barbara Pepper, are trapped in a spooky underground crypt with the murderer.

"Man Who Lived Again" Briefly, the story is concerned with the efforts of a brilliant, love-crazed brain specialist to win the affection of Dr. Clare Wyatt, his beautiful young assistant. Clare, however, is in love with Dick Haslewood, a handsome young newspaperman, although she has great respect for Laurence.

"Theodora Goes Wild" Will Be Seen At Roxy

"Two in a Crowd," Starring Joel McCrea, Will Be Shown Tuesday and Wednesday.

Joe E. Brown returns to slapstick comedy in "Polo Joe," with Carol Hughes and Skeets Gallagher, which opened a three-day run at the Roxy theatre Saturday. Joan Bennett and Joel McCrea will be seen in "Two in a Crowd" Tuesday and Wednesday while "Make Way for A Lady" with Herbert Marshall, Anne Shirley and Gertrude Michael is booked for Thursday and Friday. "Theodora Goes Wild" with Irene Dunne and Melvyn Douglas, opens Dec. 13.

In "Polo Joe" the star portrays a globe trotter who returns to the welcoming arms of his rich and gushing Aunt Minnie, after years in China. Aunt Minnie's mansion is in the midst of a swanky, polo-playing colony—and Joe complicates matters for everybody by falling instantly and violently in love with pretty Mary Hilton—who thinks the only man worth considering is one who is a polo champ.

Joe is forced into the big game of the season. After a number of dumb plays which weaken the faith of everyone but the girl—Joe about-faces and makes a series of such brilliant ones that he wins both the game and the girl. But see Joe in action!

and a sweepstake race adding to the fun and excitement. "Make Way for A Lady" The story, based on "Daddy and Me" the novel by Elizabeth Jordan, deals with a wealthy widower and his romantic daughter and the latter's efforts to find her father a suitable wife. With its up-to-date theme and its setting in a fashionable suburb of New York City, the picture marks a distinct departure in Miss Shirley's type of portrayal as well as in teaming her for the first time with a co-star of Herbert Marshall's popularity.

"Career Woman" Heads Logan Program Friday

Olsen and Johnson Scheduled at the Logan Wednesday and Thursday in "Country Gentlemen"

A thrilling and dramatic story of Mississippi shanty boat folk, "Banjo On My Knee" with Barbara Stanwyck, Joel McCrea, Buddy Ebsen and Katherine DeMille, opens the week at the Logan with a run of 8 days. Ole Olsen and Chic Johnson will be seen in "Country Gentlemen" with Joyce Compton and Lila Lee Wednesday and Thursday while "Career Woman" with Claire Trevor, Mitchell Whalen, Isabel Jewell and Eric Linden is booked for the last two days of the week.

"Banjo On My Knee" These queer and beguiling Mississippi River folk, so completely neglected by students of American folk lore, while their land looked countermarts, the hillbilles of the surrounding country, have become a veritable fad—these hearty, robust sons and daughters of the Father of Waters, have at last received their due at the hands of a writer, Harry Hamilton, whose novel, "Banjo on My Knee" recently published, recounts with loving detail and affection the life of the history and the foibles of these "shanty boat" folk who inhabit the Big Creek in their little ranshackle craft.

dice of the villagers, is hopeless, even when aided by Michael Whalen a brilliant and successful criminal lawyer, who has romantically followed Claire from the big city. Finally Whalen plays a trick on the opposition by staging a fake lynching which so infuriates Claire that she rallies with an impassioned defense of her unhappy little client, wing over the jury and public and gets her off—exactly as Whalen had planned.
